

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Dear, Admissions Committee,

My journey in the field of healthcare has been driven by a deep-rooted desire to make a positive impact on the well-being of individuals and communities. Having graduated with a Health Assistant Clinical Certificate and currently pursuing a Bachelor of Science in Nursing, I have developed a solid foundation in the provision of quality healthcare services. However, I aspire to broaden my knowledge and skills specifically in the area of global public health policy, which is why I am excited about the opportunity to apply for the MRes Global Public Health Policy program at Queen Mary University of London. My experience as an Assistant Ward In-charge has exposed me to the complexities of healthcare delivery at a local level. I have witnessed firsthand the importance of effective policy implementation in ensuring the smooth running of healthcare facilities and ultimately improving health outcomes for the community. This experience has fueled my interest in delving deeper into the field of public health policy, as I believe that informed policy decisions have the power to drive meaningful change on a broader scale. The prospect of studying at Queen Mary University of London excites me due to its renowned reputation in research and education in the field of public health. I am particularly drawn to the MRes Global Public Health Policy program because of its emphasis on equipping students with the analytical tools and research skills necessary to address complex global health challenges. I am eager to engage with the diverse faculty and student body at Queen Mary University, as I believe that learning in a multicultural environment will enrich my perspective and deepen my understanding of global health issues. My career goal is to become a health educator and advocate for evidence-based policies that promote health equity and social justice on a global scale. I am driven by a passion to contribute to the development and implementation of policies that address the underlying social determinants of health and ensure access to quality healthcare for all. The MRes Global Public Health Policy program at Queen Mary University will provide me with the theoretical foundation and practical skills required to advance in this field and make a meaningful difference in the lives of individuals and communities worldwide. In conclusion, my academic background, hands-on experience in healthcare delivery, and genuine passion for public health policy make me a dedicated and motivated candidate for the MRes Global Public Health Policy program at Queen Mary University of London. I am committed to leveraging this opportunity to deepen my understanding of global health challenges and contribute to shaping policy solutions that have a lasting impact. I look forward to the prospect of being part of a community of scholars and practitioners who share my commitment to advancing public health on a global scale.

Yours sincerely,

Ms SABINA KUMI
